

Quiz

are you a relationship zombie?

Of course you love him...but are you too obsessed with him? Take our quiz and find out! BY GINGER RUE start

Tell your friend you gotta go!

You're on the phone with a female friend. Your boyfriend calls. You:

Tell your BF you'll call him back.

Your boyfriend has plans with the guys. You:

Enjoy Girls' Night Out with your buds.

What does your notebook have written on it?

Tell your coach you're sick and skip the game.

Your volleyball tournament conflicts with his family reunion. What do you do?

Say, "Great! Where are we going?"

Hearts, scribbles, and "Mrs. Your Boyfriend's Full Name"

Doodles, your name, and "Coldplay rules"

Blow off the reunion. The tournament trumps his Aunt Mabel's potato salad!

How do your guy friends compare to your boyfriend?

They're cool, too.

You're assigned an essay on "The Person I Admire Most." You're is about:

Rush to his side with chicken soup and a new Xbox game.

Your guy stays home from school sick. You:

Guy friends?

Duh! Your guy

Your mom, dad, or grandparent

Amelia Earhart

Hope he feels better soon.

You win a date with Jesse McCartney! So:

What's your nickname?

Know his middle name?

You give it to your best friend.

You go... and pray your BF understands. It's Jesse!

A fusion of your name and his - like TomKat or Bennifer.

Something special your friends and BF call you.

Yeah.

Uhhh...

zombie alert!

You're so into Mr. Wonderful, there's no "you" left in your world. Snap out of it - there's more to life than your relationship!

getting zombified!

It's fine (and feels great!) to be a little infatuated, but keep some perspective. Stay in touch with the girl you were before you fell madly in love.

perfect balance!

You know how to enjoy having a terrific boyfriend without totally losing yourself. Giving him and yourself some space will keep all your relationships healthy!

ghost girl!

You're his girlfriend... but you're so not into him that he might as well be invisible. Give him zero attention, and he may not be your boyfriend for long!